Part of the product family of Microsoft's "Microsoft Security Essentials", Norton Bootable Recovery Tool is a very powerful tool that can do more than just create a bootable disc. It can also check, repair and update software, check and repair computer files and take screenshots. Overall, the program is a very useful tool that can be useful if you need to reinstall a previous version of Windows. Screenshots: Norton Bootable Recovery Tool Main Features: Creating a bootable disc Updating USB/DVD drivers Updating your ISO file Adding drivers Creating a bootable disc: Getting started is easy. Just select the driver you want to install, then click on the Create button. While all options are available to you, you can choose to install the 32-bit version by ticking off the corresponding box in the '64 Bit or 32 Bit Drivers' section of the screen, as well as the language you want the bootable disc to be in (15 languages). The software then checks for updates. It does this automatically and quickly. Installation is also fast and very convenient. Create a bootable disc by adding the driver and clicking on the 'Next' button. You will then see a progress bar. If you only want to create a bootable disc, you can just let the program perform the check, download and process updates (if there are any) by clicking on the 'Next' button again. The program then presents you with the information you entered during the installation. It allows you to make changes to that data if you decide to, or just click on the 'Finish' button. You can now double-click on the disc file to mount the disc. Mounting a disc is simply a process that lets you access the data on a specific drive. After clicking on the 'mount' button, you will see the file management tool which is very simple to use. The USB/DVD drive is checked and updated drivers are downloaded if required. After a brief window, the disc is created. You can then rename the disc if you wish. In this case, I used 'Image'. When you first launch the application you will then see a progress bar which you can use to check the current status of the process. If you chose to only check for updates, you will be
